TELEGRAMS

(via Galveston.)

Paris, 7th—In spite of all the precautions of the police the Anarchists made another attempt yesterday at Angers, chief town of the Maine et Loire department. A bomb was placed on the sill of the largest window of the police barracks, and it exploded with a terrific report. The barracks was partly destroyed, but only one person was killed, a sentry near the window. A force of police has been hurriedly sent from Paris to Angers to search for the criminals.

Indignation is daily increasing against Ravachol, whose declarations are more and more cynical, and the public call for his execution. Much comment is made on the fact that Ravachol's accomplice, Mathieu, is still at large, the police being unable to find him.

St. Petersburg, 7th—The Czar gave an audience yesterday to the United States Minister here. His Majesty spoke enthusiastically of the help sent to the starving Russians, and charged the Minister to thank the American People on his part.

Rome, 7th—The delivery of the Sultan's Firman to the Khedive of Egypt threatens to produce a conflict, as England objects to its being received. In political circles it is said that Italy supports England in the matter. From Cairo it is announced that the British Red Sea squadron has been reinforced with several vessels from the East Indian station.

Berlin, 7th—Emperor William has asked General Caprivi to take some vacation. This is believed to be a device to get the Chancellor to a distance.

Hyeres, 7th—Queen Victoria received the veterans of the Crimean War, and chatted with them for a long time.

Auckland (New Zealand), 7th—The state of affairs in Samoa is getting worse, and war is imminent. The Government is powerless to maintain its authority.

Berlin, 7th—The negotiations for a commercial treaty between Germany and Spain have been suspended on the request of Germany to be granted the same advantages as the United States in trading with the Spanish West Indies.

Brussels, 7th—Count Merode Westerloo, president of the Senate, is dead.

London, 7th—An enormous crowd witnessed the Epsom Races. The City and Suburban Stakes were won by Buccaneer, Trapezoid second and Catarina third.

Paris, 7th—The Soleil, commenting on private advices from Porto Novo, states that things are much more serious than they appear from the official despatches, owing to the bellicose attitude of King Behanzin.

Madrid, 7th—Delboche, and not Devat, is the name of the French Anarchist caught while attempting to blow up the Chamber. He admits having been in league for some time with Spanish Anarchists.

Six persons implicated in an explosion which took place in Pueblo Nuevo have been arrested. The explosion caused no damage.

London, 7th—Lord Salisbury has left for Nice.

TRADE OF THE UNITED STATES.

The working of the McKinley tariff is a matter of such importance to the whole world of commerce that we gladly make room in our columns for discussion on the subject. If it can be shown that the said tariff is beneficial to the U. States all other considerations may be put on one side, and every nation will be justified in adopting the McKinley principles. We publish at foot a very argumentative and plausible communication from an American citizen, but he has not converted us to his view. On the contrary we hold as firmly as ever to the theory of Free Trade, and regard the McKinley tariff as unwise and prejudicial.

In the first place the said tariff was voted with the view of reducing the Customs Revenue, and for this reason the free-list was increased by more than 100 items. So far the effect was precisely what might be expected, free articles last year constituting 56 per cent of the total value of imports, against 35 per cent in 1890.

Secondly, the tariff on the other hand aimed at preventing or diminishing the importation of certain articles, by imposing heavier duties. The returns for 1890 and 1891, therefore, shew as follows:—

	1890	1891
	$	$
Free.....	288,100,000	463,700,000
Dutiable.....	535,300,000	364,300,000
Total.....	823,400,000	828,000,000

So that in fact what the country gained in free imports it lost in dutiable articles, and the total amount of imports was practically the same as in 1890. If the mischievous tariff in question had not been put in force we might have looked for a healthy increase in the import trade, because the year was a prosperous one, the population had increased by 1,500,000 souls, and the export trade shewed an increase of 14 per cent over the previous year. The McKinley tariff acted as a blight on commerce; the imports for 1891 being only 12$70 cents per inhabitant, as compared with 13$20 in the preceding year. It is admitted on all hands that a decline of imports is the reverse of an index of prosperity.

Our correspondent W.V.B. lays much stress on the fact that the trade returns for the year ending June 1892 are likely to result as follows:—

	$
Imports.....	790,000,000
Exports.....	1,100,000,000

This, he says, would leave a balance of trade of $310,000,000 in favor of the U. States. We regret to say that the figures for 8 months ending Feb. 29th 1892 bear out his estimates, and as the population of the U. States has advanced to 65,000,000 souls we find the imports will not exceed 12$15 per head, which we consider very deplorable.

Fourthly: he rejoices at the great surplus of exports over imports, as if a country is enriched by what goes out and not by what comes in. He is a blind believer in the Balance of Trade, in spite of all the writings from Adam Smith to the present day, and hence he thinks the end and object of fiscal legislation is to stimulate exports and diminish imports.

Fifthly. He is disappointed that the difference of value does not return to the U. States in bullion, but accounts for it by the Baring crisis in Europe, which has compelled European banking houses to sell American stocks. But, surely, there was no Baring crisis in 1889, and the bullion trade of the U. States in that year shewed:—

	$
Specie imported....	28,900,000
" exported	80,200,000

We have always maintained that the current of bullion has no connection with the imports or exports of merchandise. The trade returns of every country in Europe prove this beyond a doubt. If the people of the Argentine Republic could be convinced of this we should avoid a deal of fiscal blundering.

Sixthly. W. V. B. says that if exports do not increase wealth how is it that the New York banks have at present in deposit the largest amount of money on record?

We have never confounded money with wealth. They are two things as distinct as railway waggons and sacks of wheat. France has more than twice the stock of gold and, silver money that Great Britain has, and is yet by no means comparable in wealth. In fact the U. States may increase their stock of bullion and yet lose in wealth, as, for example, in imported merchandise.

There is no more emphatic condemnation of the McKinley tariff than the fact alleged by W.V.B.; namely that in spite of an extension of the free list the imports of the U. States have declined from 13$20 per inhabitant in 1890 to 12$15 in 1892. It would seem to us to prove that the individual wealth of the people has declined 8 per cent, owing to the unlucky tariff in question.

The communication to which we allude is as follows:—

Mr. Editor.

I would like to say a few words on the United States trade and call attention to some points omitted in your editorial on that subject.

In the first place it may be well to bear in mind that the title of the so called Mackinley Act is "An Act to Reduce the Revenue and Equalize Duties on Imports &c.", and furthermore that the customs revenue for the calendar year 1891 was reduced thereby many millions of dollars.

Again, the act referred to placed on the free list about one hundred articles not there before, and the free imports for the year 1891, for the first time in the history of the United States, largely exceeded the dutiable imports, the amount of free imports being 56,57 per cent of the whole against 35,10 per cent in 1890.

Or, in other words, of the whole amount imported in 1891, only $398,789,000 was of dutiable articles, while in the year 1890 the value of such articles was $534,870,000.

The great increase in free imports is made up principally of raw materials and food products sugar standing at the head of the list.

Now here let me call attention to the following paragraph from your editorial:

"At the same time there has been a prodigious increase of exports, say $113,000,000, but it is difficult to see what connection there can be between this branch of trade and the new tariff, which was wholly directed against imports."

Just how you can harmonize the latter part of the paragraph with my statement and figures as to free imports I don't know, but, what is more important now, is that you also ignore the fact that the tariff Act referred to contains what is known as the reciprocity clause, and I will now show you that what has been done under that clause has had much to do with the export trade.

I will take the trade with Cuba as an illustration. There is a reciprocity treaty existing between the United States and Spain that applies to the island of Cuba, from which the United States imports large quantities of raw sugar, and during the last four months of 1891 the exports to Cuba increased in value more than 45 per cent under the operation of that treaty.

It should be borne in mind in considering these foreign trade figures of the United States, that the fiscal year ends in June, so that the last half of 1891 is the first half of the fiscal year. It is, of course, impossible to tell, but if the exports for the last half of the fiscal year are anywhere near as large as they were during the first half, the total for the year will exceed $1,100,000,000, for their aggregate value during the first half was $551,120,000 and exceeded the imports for the same period by $155,450,000, while the exports during the second quarter of the fiscal year, or last quarter of 1891, exceeded $100,000,000 per month, those of each month in turn exceeding any previous month, and December standing at the head with the enormous sum of $119,930,000, an excess over imports of $50,480,000 for this one month alone.

Now a word on the outflow of gold from the United States. The year 1891 you will admit was one of great financial disturbance in Europe. At the time of the Baring failure and immediately after, Europe unloaded tens of millions of American securities which were absorbed by the United States, and ever since then from time to time she has obtained supplies of money by selling "Americans." These facts are notorious and beyond dispute.

A letter written in New York some six weeks ago by a thoroughly informed gentleman, connected with one of the largest financial institutions there, may also throw some light on this subject. He says: "In spite of the great and daily increasing balance of trade in our favor, such is the state of affairs prevailing in Europe, so hard pressed are they for ready money, that gold cannot be sent here, and in its place we are receiving Government bonds and other "gilt edged" securities in untold millions."

If gold has not been, and is not being, sent to pay the balance due the United States, it is very certain that something equally valuable has and is.

Mr. Editor, are you ready to assert that the peculiar conditions existing in the great money markets of Europe, and that have prevailed there for more than a year, are not the chief cause of the outflow of gold from the United States, and that, had a normal, healthy condition prevailed in the European money centers during the past 18 months, making it unnecessary to part with really valuable American securities to get ready money, the United States would not have gained largely in gold instead of having lost? In asking this question I fully realize that the United States is one of the great gold producing and exporting countries.

Recently Europe began to buy gold again in the United States. She bought some millions of dollars of it during February, and she has bought silver too. She paid for both with some of the strongest securities the markets of the world ever handled. And, notwithstanding this export of gold, the U. States Treasury gained $2,550,000 of that commodity during that month.

Referring to these recent exports of gold Bradstreet's says: "At the present moment the American (U. S.) market is the only one in which European investors can obtain either buyers or prices." And it also states that during ten days in February London alone threw 150,000 shares of a par value of say $15,000,000 on the American market.

If the exports of the United States tend to reduce its wealth (?) they certainly have not reduced its supply of ready money, for the banks of New York city, a few weeks ago, had the largest amount of money on deposit ever held by them, about $550,000,000 I believe, and the exchanges of the N. York Bank Clearing House for the week ending, 20th Feb., were $878,800,000, and money was loaning on call, at from 1½ to 2 per cent; while during the first week of January, the payments of money through the Bank Clearing Houses in all cities outside New York, were greater by 16 per cent than in any previous year.

A word as to the free silver scare and I am through. If you or any of your readers expect to hear of any new silver legislation in the U. States during this year, I think you will be disappointed.

The country is on the eve of a Presidential election. A Democratic House is trying to force the free silver issue, the coinage committee of the Republican Senate is reporting adversely on all silver bills sent to it, and the President stands ready to veto any free silver bill laid before him.

Yours very truly.
W. V. B.

B. Ayres, 1st April, 1892.

OUR LONDON LETTER.

ODDS AND ENDS.

(From our own Correspondent.)

London, March 5.

Count Tolstoi is said to have been ordered off to his estate by the Russian authorities for publishing in the London Daily Telegraph a letter on the famine. The London Standard's correspondent in Moscow has denied the authenticity of the letter in the Telegraph and says it was made up from an article written by Count Tolstoi in the Psychological Journal and cites the authority of the Moscow Gazette to prove that in the Telegraph the Coun's meaning has been garbled, in the translation, even supposing he had written to the Telegraph at all. The Daily Telegraph in reply publishes a dispatch in which Count Tolstoi not only admits that he did write the letter, but praises the truthfulness of the translation. Your esteemed Anglo-Hebrew contemporary decidedly scores this time; and it is all the more satisfactory to its numerous friends, because it is not the first time that malicious doubts have been cast on the truth of the several interviews of its continental correspondents with Popes, Emperors, Ministers, Chancellors and great people, with whom its intimacy is only comparable to that of Mr. Blowitz.

***

The particulars of what is known as the "Cannes Tragedy" are eagerly looked for. We have already three versions, one from Mr. Deacon, one from M. Abeille's brother, and one from Mrs Deacon who is now in Paris and contemplates suing for a divorce. M. Emile Abeille, naturally, perhaps, treats the shooting of his brother by Mr. Deacon as a cold-blooded murder. Mrs Deacon, who like her husband is an American, seems to think the act most reprehensible, and under the circumstances quite uncalled for. She asserts that M. Abeille was a friend of the house, in her salon about half past ten at night, and that when Mr. Deacon rapped at the door of her bedroom she had just left it, where she had been changing her visiting dress—visiting at the Riviera and in Carnival time is at late hours—for an evening gown, and had rejoined M. Abeille who was innocently lounging in the armchair in the salon. When the violent shaking of the door took place, she had to light a candle to go through the bedroom to open it. That accounts for the delay that Mr. Deacon complained of. As for poor M. Abeille, says Mrs Deacon, he could easily have escaped by another corridor had he any reason for doing so. The poor young man, secure in his innocence, had nothing to dread until he saw Mr. Deacon's revolver pointed at him. He then sought safety behind the sofa, Mr. Deacon followed him and discharged the slugs point blank into his chest. Mr. Deacon's own version of his domestic history during the last two years and his account of the warning letters he received and of his watchings and suspicions are not favourable to Madame Deacon's theories in regard to the victim, M. Abeille, who, as Mr. Deacon complains, was so kind to his children that they used to call him "gateau." So they might; and Mr. Deacon be altogether mistaken, like any other jealous man. It is rather in his favour that, if the wife is already contemplating divorce, she must have a notion that he will not be judicially hanged.

***

Lady Blandford has sued her lately divorced husband, the present Duke of Marlborough, for the maintenance of his son, the Marquis of Blandford, now 20 years of age. Yesterday the Attorney General appeared on behalf of the Duke to support a motion before the judge of the divorce court on a question of law. The point to decide was the liability of a man to support his son after the latter attains the age of 16. The judge decided that no such liability existed and the court could not interfere, seeing that Lady Blandford received £2,500 per annum as sufficient alimony and £380 a year was given by the Duke for the education of his son. There seems to be family squabbling at Blenheim, probably between the present Duchess of Marlborough and the present Lady Blandford, divorced by the grace of the courts. The young Marquis until recently visited Blenheim. Now he is not admitted and, hence the Duke's apparent but not real illiberality.

The following items are from the financial papers:—

Considerable interest attaches to the next distribution on the Ordinary stock of the Buenos Ayres Great Southern Railway Company, and various dividend estimates are being hazarded, although the official announcement is not due for a fortnight yet. We have reason to believe that the interim dividend will be, at least, at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum, and that it may be at the rate of 5 per cent.

The Companhia Geral of Brazil, with its imposing capital, has not lived very long. The Banco Republica and the Banco Emissor Pernambuco have been appointed receivers, and Mr. Joseph Mawson, one of the English directors, has been nominated fiscal, to act with them. Fortunately, there were comparatively few investors in England who had anything to do with the amalgamation of the ill-fated Companhia Geral.

There are three holders of the bonds of Messrs. C. de Murrieta and Co. who refuse to agree to the arrangement proposed in connection with the South American and Mexican Company—viz., the Ottoman Bank, whose holding amounts to £70,000, and two others holding £20,000 and £9,000 respectively, making altogether £99,000 out of the total of £1,000,000 sterling. We understand that it is not intended to proceed with the scheme unless the Ottoman Bank withdraws its opposition.

Much to the disappointment of the bears, the shares of Eastman's Meat Company rose on the publication of the report for 1991. It would, however, be difficult to imagine anything worse than the results of the last year. Not only is there no dividend for the cumulative preference shares, but there is a loss on trading of £69,101, which is carried forward "to next year's account as a debit balance and, for that reason, not deducted from the reserves." Inasmuch as the reserves must be, as Messrs. Turquand, Youngs and Co. point out, non-existent to the extent of the debit balance of the profit and loss account, we fail to see the advantage of the directors' particular form of book-keeping. The unpleasant fact remains that in the current year a net profit of £69,101 must be earned before the Preference shareholders can begin to hope for even a portion of the arrears due to them, and the date when the Ordinary shareholders may hope for dividends seems as far off as the Greek Kalends.

A meeting was held before Mr. H. Brougham, Official Receiver, of the creditors of Captain England, who had acted as the agent for M. Bocau, the owner of Ormonde, the well-known racehorse. Mr. T. R. Apps, on behalf of the debtor, stated that M. Bocau had empowered Captain England to sell or lease the horse in England. The late Mr. Hume Webster had engaged the horse's services for three years to forty mares at 300 each, and he (Mr. Apps) was informed that the subscription was full. The offer for the horse was £30,000, and if M. Bocau had accepted it a large profit would have been made. It would be remembered that Mr. Blundell Maple had made an offer of £28,000 for the horse. Mr. Theodore Lumley said that he appeared for that gentleman and confirmed the statement. Captain England was on his way home, and M. Bocau would bring the horse, as owing to the revolution going on in South America he had determined upon the sale of Ormonde. Captain England anticipated making a large commission out of the sale of the horse, and that being so, he asked that the meeting should be further adjourned to enable him to attend in person and make an offer. After a short discussion the meeting was adjourned, Mr. Lumley pointing out that 7s. 6d. was the smallest offer that the debtor could make.

PROVINCIAL NEWS.

A telegram received from San Juan yesterday reports a horrible murder and suicide perpetrated by a young man named Moyano. This young man, who is said to have occupied a good social position, killed his old mother and then blew his own brains out. The affair caused tremendous excitement. It is supposed that Moyano was labouring under temporary insanity.

The Rosario police have pounced on a lot of firearms, which were concealed in a house in Villa Casilda. The "blues" are on the scent of more bellicose material stored in different houses in the environs of Rosario. All this is calculated to alarm the quiet inhabitants of the Chicago of the Plate, who were working away without dreaming of the proximity of the dangerous implements. What has increased the alarm is the circumstance that anonymous fly-sheets attacking the present order of things are being clandestinely circulated in the hotels, cafés, and theatres, where the police as a rule are conspicuous by their absence. In the meantime the local papers applaud the energetic attitude of the Government. So far no arrests have been made in Rosario in connection with the discovery of firearms, although it is quite evident that these arms were stored for a purpose, a subversive purpose most probably.

A large quantity of firearms has also been discovered in Mendoza. The rifles bear the State-mark, from which it may be inferred that they were taken from the Arsenal. We note that Dr. Lencinas, one of the leading Radicals, has been arrested.

Telegrams from San Luis report the opening of the branch of the Banco de la Nacion. There was not very much enthusiasm amongst holders of depreciated notes, as the first day's deposits barely amounted to $5,000. The schoolmasters would have patriotically come forward to swell that sum with their earnings, but for the unfortunate circumstance that they have not been paid for the last three months. Education in San Luis is going to the dogs; the local Governor perceives it too, for in a moment of administrative remorse he has promised to put by 10% of the provincial revenue to defray the cost of primary education. Experience shews that promises, even when made in the cause of education, are worth little in these latitudes. We may here observe that the National Government has not paid the school subsidy for San Luis for the last two years. The National Government has very little cash to dispose of, but it might pay the subsidy in Moratorio bonds.

The death of Dr. Manuel Langenheim deprives La Plata of one of its leading magistrates. The deceased gentleman was in more than one way identified with the progress of the enchanted capital of the Queen Province. The funeral took place yesterday, all the local magnates being present. Speeches were delivered over the grave.

MR. WALKER AND MESSRS. BARING.

Buenos Ayres,
1st April.

Mr. Editor,

I observe in the money article of your issue of the 20th March a quotation in reference to the financial connection of the late Mr. T. A. Walker with the house of Baring Bros.

The enclosed letter, written by our solicitor to the Manchester Guardian (as also to other English papers) and published on the 27th Feb. 1892, is a reply to similar statements which have appeared at home, and I should feel extremely obliged if you will insert same in your valuable paper.

Yours truly,
For self and co-Exors. of
Thomas A. Walker,
Charles H. Walker.

Sir,

Permit me, as the legal adviser of the late Mr. Walker and his executors, to endeavour to remove some of the erroneous impressions which the auditors of the Canal Company have apparently conveyed to the Canal Shareholders' Association with reference to Mr. Walker's contracts and the circumstances which led to the termination of those contracts in November, 1890. I refer especially to the statements made at a meeting of Canal shareholders held at Manchester on the 12th inst., and reported in your paper on the 13th.

1. Neither Mr. Walker nor his executors were connected financially with Messrs. Baring either in the Ship Canal contract or any other contracts, whether at home or abroad. The financial troubles which befell Messrs. Baring in November, 1890, in no way affected Mr. Walker's executors, and had nothing whatever to do with the termination of Mr. Walker's contract.

2. It is not true that Mr. Walker became unable to make his plant repayments. Mr. Walker repaid the Company on this account £194,895, and his executors refused to make further repayments until large sums claimed by the contractors from the Canal Company and repudiated, but subsequently admitted, were paid. Nor is it true that Mr. Walker agreed to take £500,000 in the Company's shares, and did not do so. Mr. Walker subscribed and paid £500,000 in cash for 50,000 ordinary shares at their par value - namely, £10 per share. Half these shares he sold at a great loss, and the other half he transferred to the Company's nominees to meet certain engagements into which the Company entered when they took over the contracts.

3. There is no ground whatever for the assertion that the contracts terminated at Mr. Walker's death, and that the executors were unable to carry on the works. Mr. Walker died on November 25, 1889, two years after the canal works had been started. The total amount of work then done was £1,914,854. The executors carried on the works for eleven months, from 25th November, 1889, to 31st October, 1890. The amount of work done during that period was £1,558,077, or an average monthly rate of £141,000—a speed of progress which has not been equalled or even distantly approached since. Several gentlemen at the meeting charged Mr. Walker and his executors with "maladministration." That is an indefinite phrase, and may well be left until something a little more specific is stated. It may certainly be said in defence of the executors' management, which terminated on 25th November, 1890, and not, as alleged, in February, 1891, that no serious accidents occurred under their control. The three accidents at Salford, at Latchford, and at Runcorn have all taken place since November 1890.

4. Neither Mr. Walker nor his executors were in any way responsible for the engineering features of the canal works. In several very important particulars both Mr. Walker and his executors and their agents disagreed with the advisers of the Company. All the contractors had to do was to execute the work as they were directed, and try to do it well. Nor were they or their agents responsible either for the quantities or the prices supplied by the Canal Company to the Corporation of Manchester in February, 1891. On the other hand, they were of opinion, and stated, that such prices were inadequate; and so it has proved.

5. The only relationship now existing between Mr. Walker's executors and the Canal Company is that the executors have an interest in the amount realised for plant.

When the executors entered into the arrangement, in November, 1890, for the transfer of the works they were not informed, nor were they aware, of the financial difficulties of the Canal Company. They did not know that it was intended to apply to the Corporation for assistance, nor was it explained to them that the Canal Company intended to apply for an extension of time for the completion of the works. Certainly not a word was suggested as to placing the plant, in which the executors have a substantial interest, in the hands of the other contractors.

The recent proposals of the Company to let the plant to new contractors, without the consent of the executors, and without making, in the judgment of the executors, any adequate provision for its repair and maintenance, have uniformly led to differences of opinion.

The Company are, I understand, advised by eminent counsel that the executors are wrong in their contention The executors, on the other hand, are advised by equally eminent counsel that they are right

The questions at issue are small compared with the far graver and more momentous issues which have been amicably settled between Mr. Walker's executors and the Company without strife.

At the general meeting of Canal shareholdsrs in February, 1891, in response to Sir J. Lee, I publicly expressed, on behalf of Mr. Walker's executors, their satisfaction with the manner in which the Directors had treated them, and promised on behalf of the executors to render the Company every aid in their power.

The auditors will be aware that for some considerable time the executors fulfilled this promise, without any pecuniary or other recompense, in a very special way. But the executors can hardly be blamed if they desire publicly to contradict or explain at least some of the more erroneous statements officially made by the Canal Company's officers.

Apologising for troubling you at this length,

I am, &c.,

THE NEW BANK.

Mr. Editor,

Altho' an eight or nine years' reader of your estimable journal, I confess that I am to-day at a loss to know whether to take your article on "The Bank of the Argentine Nation" "au serieux" or not. Your reference to an "equitable." (What is "equitable?") arrangement with the London bondholders, and your remark on the "pusillanimity" of the rich in this country in "matters of public welfare" when we remember the 'Patriotic Loan' requires explanation. Then, it is not the possibility of "finding a dozen fairly honest men in Buenos Ayres" ("which no one doubts for a moment") but the impossibility of their being allowed to figure on the Bank Board. What follows then but your own dismal foreboding—a "wretched outlook for the country." Again I ask you—is your article to be taken "au serieux," or not?

J. W. W.

ED. NOTE.—We are quite serious in hoping the public may subscribe.

BARADERO RAFFLE.

Mr. Editor,

The lottery for the estancia in Baradero which was to have taken place in March was I believe postponed till April 1st, according to your columns. I and many others would be glad to know if there was a raffle at all, as no one seems to know anything about it, and if so, who won, or was the whole thing a "take in" in which case can we not oblige the owner to return the money.

One who has taken a ticket.

TRAMS AND POSTAGE STAMPS.

Dear Sir,

My theme is the use and abuse of postage stamps. Surely it is an abuse to give two cent stamps as change on tramways.

The people of Buenos Ayres are the most long-suffering and apathetic people I have ever heard of: but even in a "state of siege" it may surely be permitted to raise an outcry against the two cent stamp trick.

I am informed that the Companies encourage the stamp nuisance, as they can obtain a quantity of stamps at a reduction. But if such a proceeding is lawful, and a dirty stamp is legal tender, why not make the stamps without gum at the backs?

BOYS' ORPHANAGE

April 6th.

Dear Sir,

Would you kindly oblige me with the address of the Boys' Orphanage, also if you know whether they care about receiving cast-off clothes?

Yours faithfully,
Bradford.

P.S.—Also the address of the Salvation Army.

Ed. Note.—We are authorized to say that the Committee of the Boys' Orphanage will receive gratefully any donations of second-hand clothing if sent to Segunda Cochabamba No. 146. The address of the Salvation Army is 1488 Chacabuco.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

There was nothing very fresh in the state-of-siege line yesterday, but something spicy is expected to-day, when the National Government will say Yes or No to the order of Dr. Tedin, the Federal Judge, commanding the immediate release of Drs. Alem and Molina. It will be very interesting to see what line the Government means to take on this knotty Constitutional question. Meanwhile everything in town and provinces is as quiet as a Quakers' meeting and the friends and relatives of the prisoners continue to send them daily all kinds of edible and drinkable delicacies, cigars, books and what not, to keep up their spirits.

Who stole the loock? Some heartless vagabond stole a splendid clock yesterday from Mr. Irish's well-known Bankrupt Emporium in Calle Suipacha; and the public are cautioned against buying it. See advertisement.

The rain on Wednesday night was a pocket edition of Niagara Falls, and did a world of good to the camp.

Dr. Bernardo Irigoyen, the Radical Presidential candidate, has returned to his town residence in Calle Florida. Therefore, the report of his being under arrest at his estancia, "en parole," was undiluted gammon.

The Rev. Fathers McDonnell and Moore, of the Carmelite Order, will leave for England in the R.M.S. Clyde on Wednesday next. They will take with them pleasant recollections of this country, and we hope to see them return to it.

If the Australians think very small potatoes of General Booth and his army, he has a contrary opinion of them, except as regards their passion for gambling. He describes the hold that it has upon the Australians as 'terrible'. He says, "Boys at school, servants in families, and every class of society from the highest to the lowest is infected with this moral disease."

A shopkeeper, having a stormy discussion with his better half, put the shutters up and affixed the following notice: "Closed during altercations."

The production of tobacco is increasing wonderfully in all the provinces and the result is a whacking fall in price. In Santa Fé such is the abundance of the 'weed' that it is selling at $5 per 10 kilos. Not long ago the cigarmen in this city were paying $10 and $12 for the same quantity of Argentine tobacco.

On a Niagara street car was an aged man who held a pipe in his mouth. The conductor told him he could not smoke, but he paid no heed. Presently the conductor came into the car and exclaimed with a show of irritation, "Didn't I tell you you couldn't smoke on this car?" "Well, Oi'm not smokin." "You've got a pipe in your mouth." "So Oi have me feet in me boots, but Oi'm not walkin."

The Defenders of the Fair Sex, although Government has refused to recognise them, won't give up the game, and, like gallant men (and British soldiers), never know when they are beaten, and have told off Committees to attend each church in the city during Holy Week, to save the ladies from the insults and importunities of the cad-masher class, whose traditional misconduct at Easter is only too well known.

The pensioners and "jubilados" of Buenos Ayres province are in anything but a jubilant frame of mind, and, as for their bodies, the results of an air and music diet are plainly visible. They have not been paid for six months, and even Zadkiel would hesitate to guess when they will be. We note that some new music has been published at La Plata, and this may console the poor people. As we are going to press, we learn that they are now being paid a month's pension on account. This won't go very far.

Messrs. Hamonet and Co., the well-known seedsmen in Calle Florida, request us to issue a general invitation to the public to call and see the only specimen of the "Crinum amabile" plant in this city. This beautiful plant has never before opened its lovely flowers in this country; so botanists, horticulturists and "aficionados" should avail of the opportunity offered them by Messrs. Hamonet.

The learned and sedate society of Cordoba has been shocked to the roots of its hair by a curious elopement. The lady (a spinster) who belongs to a high life family, is about as old as she well can be; and the gentleman is 22, and is, or rather was, studying for the Church.

The address of Sir V. Barrington will be on Tuesday, April 19th., not next Tuesday. With reference to the Rev. Mr. Pinchard's sermon, on First Aid to the Injured, next Sunday at 8 p.m., a train from Lomas at 9.20, arrives in town before 10.

The Italian steamer Rosario appears to be thoroughly impregnated with yellow fever, as three fresh cases bro

Dear Sirs—

"I have tried HAYWARD'S "PASTE" DIP on my Sheep, and have pleasure in bearing testimony to ITS EFFICACY AS A DIP. I need have no hesitation in recommending it generally as a Cure for Scab, without discolouring or damaging the Wool.

The "PASTE" is in my opinion preferable to the Powder, and will probably have a larger sale than the latter."

Yours very truly
(Signed)
JOHN KELLIE.

It has been proved by many important Estancieros that HAYWARD'S PASTE is more convenient to use than any other Dip, being already mixed and dissolving in any kind of water. It makes a smooth soapy bath which adheres well to the Fleece and leaves the wool clean and soft.

ON 'CHANGE.

Thursday, April 7th.

The market opened with a firm and rising gold price this morning; there was much political gossip, but little or nothing new appeared in print. Fourteen thousand ounces changed hands at the first ring; the price opened at 56, rose to 56.30, and closed at 56.20, say 245½ % premium. A very active business was done in sovereigns at $17.40 to $17.43, closing at 17.42, say 245½ % premium. The feeling in the speculation was very firm at the first brush, but towards one o'clock there was heaviness at the ring and the market looked top-heavy, ready to drop under its own weight. The so-called produce gold is being freely thrown on the ring, and acts as a powerful buffer to the impetus of the rise, with this characteristic, that the heavier the rise the greater will be the supply of the produce-gold, which is an outcome of the business in wool and grain.

Patriotic Bonds do not appear to be much influenced by the incipient subscription to the capital of the Banco de la Nacion Argentina. Our readers are aware that the law generously provides that holders of Patriotic Bonds are entitled to subscribe to shares of the new bank and hand in payment their bonds at a value of 75%. Thus the Bank takes in payment at 75 what is only worth 59½ in the open market. One would suppose that such an operation would put a spurt into Patriotic Bonds, but, whether the holders fail to grasp the advantages of the law or there is some screw loose in the operation, the stern fact is that Patriotic Bonds are dull and weak. Seventy five thousand were sold this morning at $59.20 to $59.40.

In connection with the subscription of the Banco de la Nacion Argentina, the London shareholders of the National who have applied for shares of the new Bank, in the belief that the Caja de Conversion would take in payment at 75% of their face value National Bonds of law of October 1891, are in a painful dilemma. The law that created the Banco de la Nacion Argentina provides that the Caja de Conversion shall receive in payment of capital of the new bank bonds of the law of March 1891, in fact Patriotic Bonds, at 75 %; but this advantage is not extended to those bonds created for the purpose of exchange for National Bank shares. The latter law stipulates that one bond of 100$, bearing 6 % interest, shall be given for two shares of the National Bank. These bonds are not payble in the subscription of the new bank's capital and our London friends were groping in a fog when they expected the Caja de Conversion to accept them on the same level as Patriotic Bonds. The dilemma of the London shareholders of the old Bank is now before the Credito Publico Nacional, and it is not probable that the original law of the Banco de la Nacion will be changed or tampered with to suit the interests of the London people. The Government might be willing to do everything possible to help them, but it is difficult to see how the obstacles can be removed. We may as well quote the text of the respective laws in this question. With regard to the subscription to the capital of the Banco de la Nacion Argentina :—

Art. 23—As soon as the Banco de la Nacion Argentina is formed, the Caja de Conversion shall offer the shares for public subscription in series of $10,000,000 each, with thirty days' notice.

Any subscribers who so desire may pay for their shares in Patriotic Loan Scrip (bonds of Internal Loan of March 1891) at 75.

Persons holding shares of the National Bank shall have preference in the subscription, and those who have taken up the first series for all subsequent series.

If there be excess in the subscription the shares shall be given out 'pro rata.'

With regard to the exchange of bonds for National Bank shares, the law runs :—

Art. 35—Within three months from promulgation of the present law the shareholders of the National Bank shall inform the Government whether they are willing to accept in exchange for their shares internal bonds bearing 6 % interest and one per cent sinking fund to the amount of 50 per cent of the value of the shares. The Government, as shareholder, shall enjoy the rights of a shareholder.

The above is pretty clear, and we fail to see how the Internal Bonds of 6 % interest and 1 % amortization can be offered on the basis of Art. 23 for 75 % in the subscription to the capital of the new bank.

Since writing the above, Minister Hansen issued this evening the following decree :—

Art. 1st—It is hereby declared that there are no grounds for the request of the British Bank of South America with regard to subscription of shares of the Banco de la Nacion Argentina, payable in Internal Bonds created by Law No. 2841 of 16th October, 1891.

Art. 2nd—Let it be known that the shares of the Banco de la Nacion Argentina are payable only in money or in bonds of the Internal Loan, created by virtue of Cabinet Council of 9th March 1891, and endorsed as Law No. 2782 on the 23rd June, 1891, at the rate of 75 % of their face value.

Art. 3rd—Let this be communicated.

PELLEGRINI.
E. Hansen.

A few shares of the French Bank changed hands at 32 gold. A large lot of debentures of the Banco Hipotecario de la Capital was sold at 41 gold; these debentures must not be confounded with the shares, which are at a very low quotation. Spanish Bank shares rose to 85 this morning. Catalinas lingered at 7 and 7.10. La Plata Cedulas have been remark

The official figures of the export of grain during the last quarter are as follows :—

	Jan.	Feb.	March
	Tons	Tons	Tons
Wheat.....	15,613	31,230	66,961
Maize.....	875	1,239	1,681
Linseed...	384	3,503	3,902

These figures give the following totals :

Wheat.....	113,804 tons
Maize.....	3,745 "
Linseed.....	7,789 "

The activity in the wool markets continued to-day and prices ruled firm. The Germans are operating on a brisk scale, buying up the fine wools at the rate of 4 francs per kilo washed. It is estimated that prices in the markets have advanced 80 cents per 10 kilos since the beginning of the week. Buyers maintain that the rise in wool in Europe is much exaggerated ; when the auctions in London the other day opened they shewed a fall of 5%; the news now is that the market has recovered 5% and prices to-day stand as before the recent fall. Meantime there is a helter-skelter in the plazas to secure fine wools. Telegrams were received this evening by German buyers announcing that prices had begun to fall again: meantime, our local market is firm and active.

The subscription lists for the capital of the Banco de la Nacion Argentina were opened to-day, and the results were far from satisfactory. Two thousand one hundred and eighty-three shares were subscribed ; the figure is not very promising.

Cheques of the Provincial Bank were stationary at 52 o/o discount. Bonos of the La Plata Mortgage Bank were done at 11. Cheques of the English Bank of the River Plate were more freely offered to-day.

The meeting of shareholders of the Old Gas Company will come off to-morrow.

The wheat market ruled very dull and weak to-day.

The gold market was steady at the second ring: seven thousand ounces were sold for to-morrow at 56.30$ to 56.20, say 2434 % premium. Four hundred sovereigns were sold at 17.43$ to 17.45, say 2464 % premium. National Ceduias E were quoted at 80. La Plata Cedulas were very firm.

The following is a summary of the business effected in stocks and shares to-day at the second ring :—

	Ounces—
April 8....	6,421 at 56.20-30-20.
	Sovereigns—

Exchange to-day remained stationary at yesterday's rates, 48¼ to 48 3/8d. on London. Discounts showed no improvement.

The Nord America has arrived at the Mount ; she will return to Europe direct without calling at Brazilian ports ; she is expected to steam back in 15 days.

The managing committee of the Riachuelo Works have fixed the expenditure for the current month for the dredging of Martin Garcia channel at $24,500 m/n. The expenditure on the Riachuelo Works for this month is fixed at $47,000.

The British Minister has thanked the Argentine Government for the generous behaviour of the authorities at States Island towards the shipwrecked crew of the British ship Crown of Italy, which was lost off Lake San Diego. Special thanks have been conveyed to Dr. Cornero, Governor of Tierra del Fuego, and special mention is made of Mr. Natalio Borghini, the secretary of Governor Cornero.

The chairman of the Riachuelo Works Committee has effected a monthly economy of $10,000 m/n by stopping the work of two small dredges which could be dispensed with without injuring the progress of the works.

The Land and Colonies Office has leased to Mr. Leon Porchet 20,000 hectares of land in the Santa Cruz territory at the rate of $60 m/n per league per annum.

The Banco de la Nacion Argentina up to the present has opened branches in the following places :—

Azul, Bahia Blanca, Boca del Riachuelo, Cañada de Gomez, Chivilcoy, Colonia Esperanza, do Rafaels, Concepcion del Uruguay, Concordia, Corrientes, Dolores, Gualeguay, Gualeguaychu, Mendoza, Parana, Pergamino, Rioja, Rosario, Salta, San Juan, San Nicolas, Sta. From Sport and Pastime we take the following news from the Partido of Rojas :-

"Mr. Hughes sold 1000 novillos for 'invernada' from Vegia Rojas, to Mr Harrington, at $20. Mr. Nicholas Murphy, La Caldera, Rojas, sold to Mr F Graham 100 fat novillos at 28, and refused 24 from Mr Frank Rath for another lot. Mr Rath bought about 1000 in this district from Mr Ballesty and others at 24 for 'invernada.' Mr Hearne sold a lot of thoroughbred Durhams at a very high reserved price. Messrs. Batley and Lett sold to Mr James Bawn of Pergamino 1300 capones at $5. A Brazilian buyer bought several criollo horses in this district, paying as high as $100. The wheat crop is giving a very poor result, although the grain is good. A great deal of wool is still unsold, which proves that estancieros are not in want of money. The camps are in splendid condition."

From Messrs. Bossio and Selve's circular, dated March 31st, we take the lowing list of vessels despatched from 15th March—

Hattie G Dixon, Paysandu, 22,543 dry hides for New York.

Ss Ingram, from Fray Bentos, 22,197 salted hides and 5,000 bags guano for Antwerp.
